

∞ The Sacred Heart: a chronology ∞

– Mystery of Numbers 13, 33 and 666 –

On June 17th, 1689, God made man asked Marguerite Mary Alacoque that the Sun King consecrate France to his Sacred Heart. He also asked that the image of his Sacred Heart be painted on the standards of the Kingdom. The request was turned down and the Kingdom of France was razed to the ground three quarters of a century later by the edge of a blade patiently polished by the seducers of the Enlightenment and by a mise en scène skillfully orchestrated by Freemasonry. Since 1689, the entire history of France has been revolving around the denied request! This refusal explains everything: the supernatural warfare of the Virgin Mary at La Salette and Fatima cried it out to us as well as this text out of which a more complex and branched time-based arithmetical network is about to be disclosed.

Striking is the number of centuries that separates the marriage of Clovis and the Christian Clothilde in 493 from the beheading of King Louis XVI in 1793: 13 centuries, still the number 13... While the freshly beheaded Kingdom of France was reeling, the revolutionary Motherland, on delivering Terror, was vomiting a hate of superhuman origin, spreading a gruesome chaos, blowing with rage into the sails of Time, a rage that would be channelled by Napoleon Bonaparte for his own glory.

Also striking is the choice of the kings of France to choose the Basilica of Saint Denis as their necropolis. Saint Denis was the first bishop sent to Gaul to evangelize Lutetia (Paris) in the third century.

In this warfare, he too was beheaded... in Montmartre! the place chosen for the erection of the Basilica of the Sacred Heart... Legend has it that a miracle occurred. Denis would have got up, taken in his hands his head cut off by the sword, walked a little less than six kilometers to collapse on the current site of the Basilica of Saint-Denis where the closest metro entrance is that of line... 13!

Saint Denis, in medieval art, is therefore often depicted on his feet, his head in his hands. The symbolism is enough to strike even the most sceptical. Behold, a man was carrying his head, staggering on a rather long path and collapsing. Near his beheading stands the present Basilica of the Sacred Heart (Sacré-Cœur) and not far from his collapse the necropolis of the kings of France. What is the profound meaning of this parable?

Would Christ, God made man, sensing that Louis XIV was about to fail, have taken the lead? Would He have calculated, like a fine chess player who foresees every possible move, an ineluctable breathlessness of the royalty, a divine Heart coming to its aid which would be turned down, an infernal blade, an inexorable fall, and a beheaded kingdom which would falter and to which the grace of three Restorations would be granted?

After Louis XVI was guillotined, don't we see the Kingdom of France taking its head in its hands with the first Restoration?

Don't we see that Kingdom staggering, skidding in a lurking revolutionary molasses, holding in its hands a frightened Louis XVIII fleeing before Napoleon's return during the Hundred Days episode?

Don't we see a second Restoration, with a Louis XVIII without offspring, the son of the future Charles X assassinated, and finally the King of France Charles X going into exile subsequent to the July Revolution in 1830, leaving the throne to Louis-Philippe who became King of the French and not King of France?

A reeling Saint Denis who was carrying his head; a staggering Kingdom that was carrying its kings... But the Kingdom has not yet fallen definitively because a third legitimist Restoration is prophesied.

Christ, God made man, is a poet. For Him, everything is an opportunity for poetry, but a poetry concealed from profane eyes, which reveals itself only to loving hearts. Before the poetry of the tragically rejected call of Sacred Heart, the following poem came to me:

Marguerite fleur-de-lys

Le lys royal drapé de Soleil
Aspirait à la sainte rosée sacrée
D'un Cœur-Sacré qui n'a point son pareil
Redonner du lustre aux pétales aimés
Que les chants de la lyre profane ont souillés

Une fleur solaire céleste fut cueillie
Envoyée dans la glaise endurcie
Pour rappeler au lys alourdi
L'Amour à la France qui s'oublie

Marguerite vint alors au secours du lys<sup>(se)</sup>
Ce héros que de très longs siècles ont usé
Le Cœur-Sacré voulut entrer dans la lice
Mais son refus le trancha d'un couperet !

The royal lys<sup>a</sup> wrapped in sun
Was yearning for the pure holy dew
Of an unmatched Sacred Heart
Giving lustre back to the beloved petals
That the chants of the profane lyre have stained

A solar flower was picked up
Sent into the hardened clay
To remind the laden lys
Of the love France had forsaken

Then came Marguerite rescuing the lys<sup>b</sup>
This hero worn out by too lengthy centuries
The Sacred Heart wanted to enter the fray
But his refusal cuts him off with a blade!

<sup>a</sup>Lys, meaning lily, is the French Royalty emblem.

<sup>b</sup>In French, pun on Ulysses...

Chronology

The main dates that marked the history of the Sacred Heart and France are presented here. A detailed chronology as well as the arithmetic relations between dates are presented in a second step. The reader will see there, once again, the recurrence of number 13!

- June 17th, 1689: Jesus wants France to be consecrated to His Sacred Heart and His Sacred Heart to be painted on the royal standard in order to thwart the rise of occultism and atheism supported by the philosophers of the Enlightenment. Request turned down by Louis XIV.
- June 17th, 1789: The National Assembly is proclaimed. Terror is knocking at the gates of the Kingdom.
- June 21st, 1823: Under the Restoration, the King of France Louis XVIII is ruling. Christ evokes to Laure (Mary of Jesus) born in Bougival his desire to see France being consecrated to his Sacred Heart.
- September 19th, 1846<sup>1</sup>: Intervention of the Virgin Mary at La Salette: “France has corrupted the universe”, She will say about the consequences of the French (Masonic) Revolution in Europe.
- June 16th, 1875: After Napoleon III and France were humiliated by Prussia in Sedan in 1870, the project to erect the Basilica of the Sacred Heart in reparation for the sins caused by the obstinacy of ignoring God’s request is dawning in France. The first stone of the future Basilica of the Sacred Heart was laid on June 16th.
- October 13th, 1884: Pope Leo XIII testifies that he overheard Satan talking with Christ. He asked for a century to ruin the Church and more power to the souls who served him. Request that Christ was forced to accept because of the stubbornness of the French kings and rulers.
- August 1st, 1885: In the Basilica of the Sacred Heart still under construction, first day of the Blessed Sacrament on perpetual display.
- April 20th, 1889: Birth of Hitler.
- January 16th, 1917: Claire Ferchaud, born on May 5th, 1896, is regularly favoured by visions of Christ in Loublande near Cholet. On January 1st, Christ asks her to write to President Raymond Poincaré about the consecration of France, then bogged down in the Great War, to his Sacred Heart. On January 16th, the letter arrives. Shaken by the private details exposed in the letter, he received Claire privately on March 21st.
- March 21st, 1917: Claire Ferchaud meets President Poincaré at the Élysée Palace, who was elected February 17th, 1913. The Separation of the Churches and the State since 1905 and his pro-war policy<sup>2</sup>, force Mr. Poincaré to turn down Christ’s request.

---

<sup>1</sup>Note that the Virgin appears at La Salette in 1846 and in 1917 in Fatima to warn the people and ask for a spiritual awakening. These two years are multiple of 71...

<sup>2</sup>Read our text V, The origins of the Great War.

- May 7th, 1917: In a letter addressed to the generals of the French army, Claire Ferchaud asked them to consecrate their troops to the Sacred Heart. France was then bogged down in the battle of the Chemin des Dames between Soissons and Reims<sup>3</sup>. All of them will refuse, including Mr. Pétain... All but one: General Ferdinand Foch<sup>4</sup>!
- From May 13th to October 13th, 1917: The Virgin Mary appears at Fatima in Portugal. The First World War gets bogged down. She will soon announce the end of the war, something unthinkable at that time.
- August 7th, 1918: General Foch, the only one to agree with consecrating the troops to the Sacred Heart, becomes Marshal of France! This rank enabled him to plan and lead the general offensive during the second Battle of the Marne, which forced Germany to ask for the armistice on November 11th, 1918!
- November 11th, 1918: Armistice.
- October 16th, 1919: The Basilica of the Sacred Heart is consecrated by Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris, under the presidency of Cardinal Vico, legate of Pope Benedict XV. This consecration was planned for 1914 but was delayed because of the Great War.

A request to consecrate France to the Sacred Heart will be proposed to Mr. Pétain during the Second World War. It will be turned down again.

On the next page, the seal of numbers 13, 33 and 666 on the flow of Time is displayed. Our time-based arithmetical network is fleshing out. Observe the recurrence of this mysterious number 13 which often connects together dates of History of France.

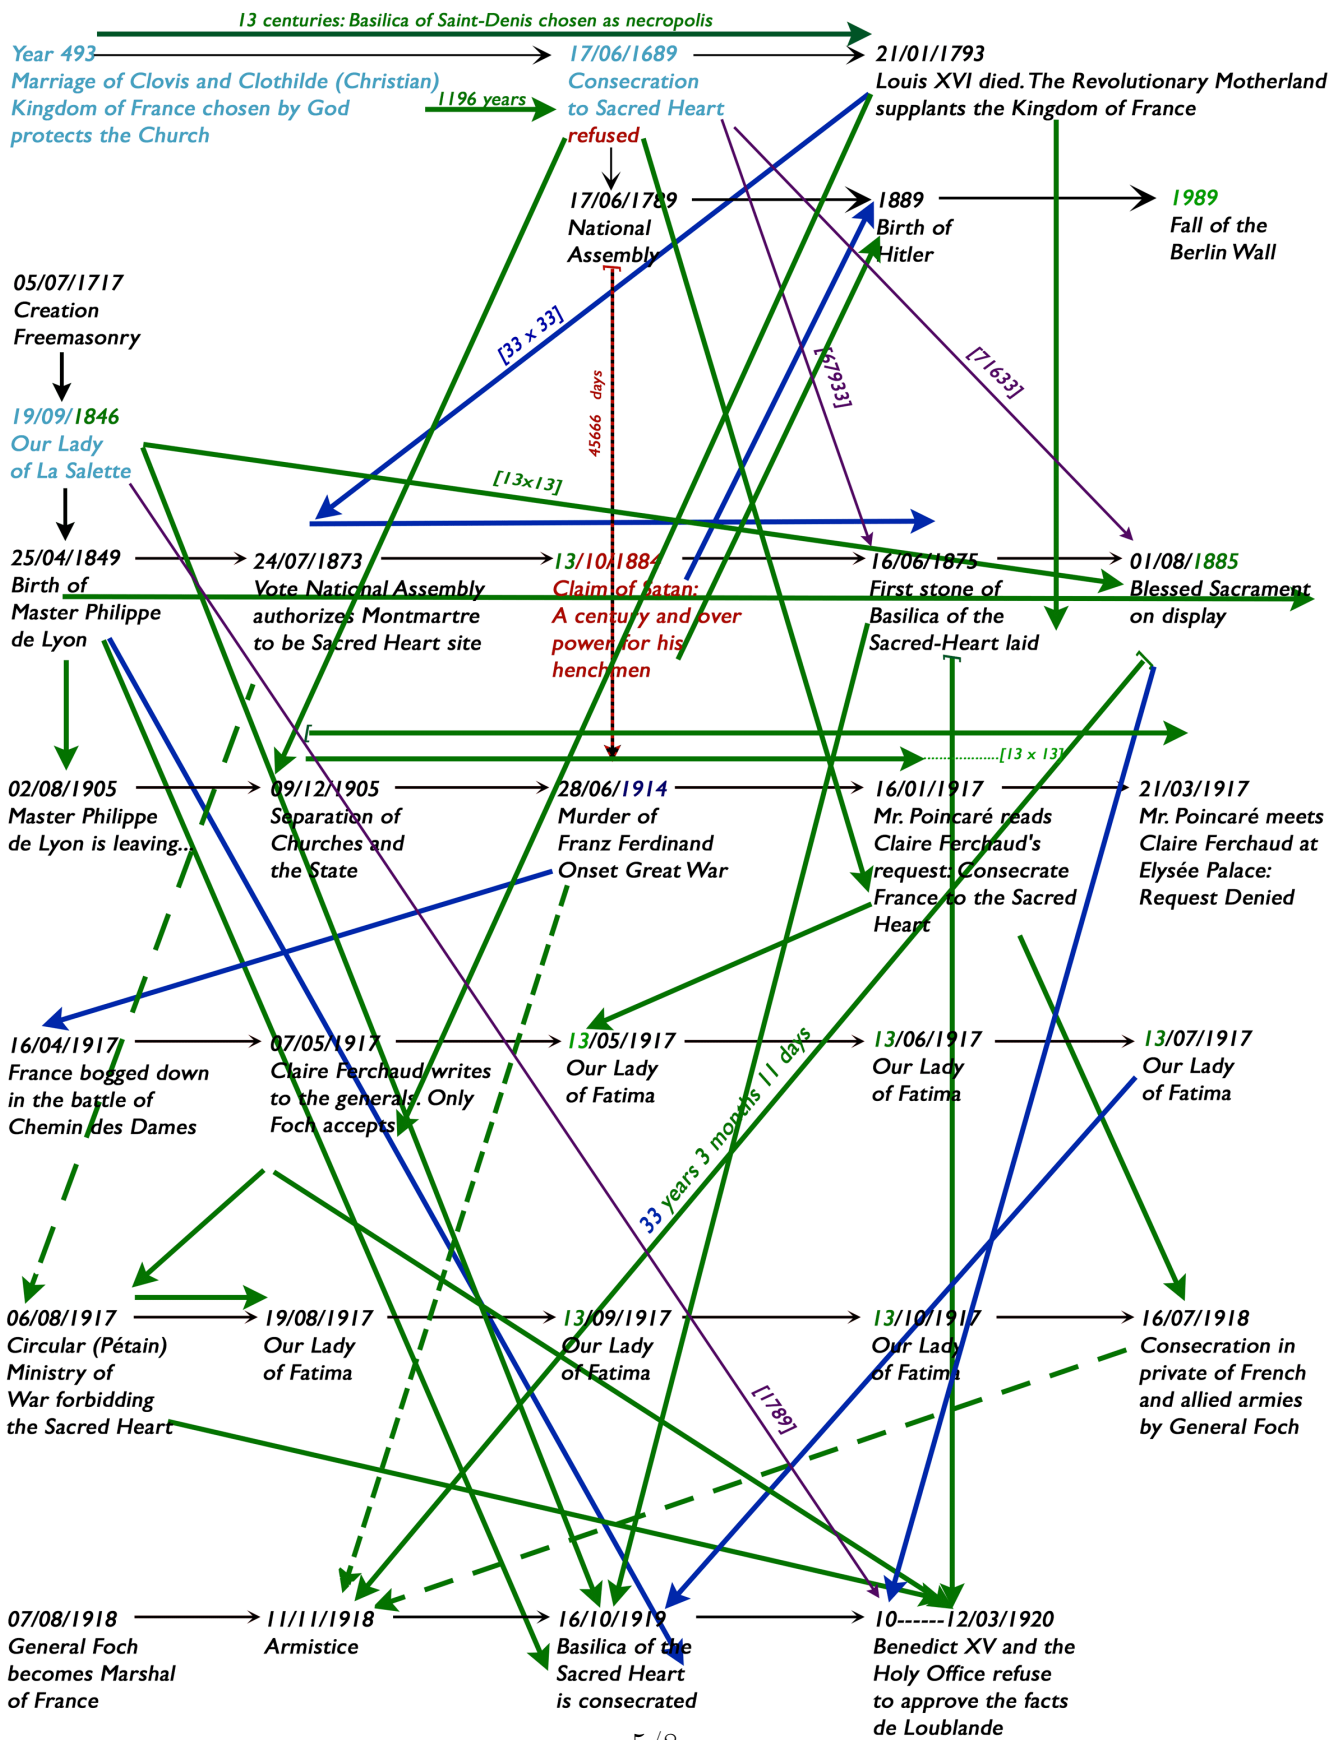

---

<sup>3</sup>Two very symbolic cities for the Kingdom of France (the Vase of Soissons with Clovis and the place of the coronation with Reims)...

<sup>4</sup>We know that General Foch went to Mass every day and that his brother, Germain Foch, was a Jesuit...

Seals of numbers 13, 33 and 666 on the flow of Time

(Partial time-based arithmetical network seen from the Sacred Heart)

Interpretation

Les peuples cessent de vivre quand ils cessent de se souvenir –People stop living when they stop remembering–
 (General Ferdinand Foch)

The interpretation of arithmetical relations connecting two dates of History of France together may prove tricky. Note that numbers 13 and 33 are used by the Forces of Light as well as by the Forces of divisions. Let's comment on some relations:

- From December 9th, 1905, date of the Separation of Churches and the State to January 16th, 1917 date when President Poincaré read the letter of Claire Ferchaud, the envoy of Christ, asking for the consecration of France to the Sacred Heart 4056 days elapsed, that is  $13 \times 13 \times 3 \times 8$  days. Note that this number bears the seal of 3 for Trinity, the seal of 8 for the Earth's guiding number at a time when Europe was bogged down in World War I, and finally the seal of 13, appearing twice. It is known that Mr. Poincaré did not have the boldness to present Christ's request before a parliament pegged by Freemasonry, eager to supplant Christianity with republican ideas. In including December 9th, 1905... 4121 elapsed up to March 21st, 1917, day when Claire Ferchaud met the refusal of the President at Élysée Palace. This number is still a multiple of 13!

Yet more astonishing, the numbers engraved in the hourglass of Time bear a confirmation of Christ's words. Indeed, we know from a reliable source, since the words of Our Lady of La Salette reported by Mélanie, that Freemasonry is against Christ<sup>5</sup>. Christ confirmed to Claire Ferchaud that Freemasonry has deliberately<sup>6</sup> provoked the First World War to bring down monarchies in order to establish democracies and ensure the triumph of atheism and their demiurge the Great Architect of the Universe, from whom they draw their power.

Indeed, we know that the French Revolution could not have succeeded without the extraordinary power of this secret society which at that time had seduced, through the philosophers of the Enlightenment, many powerful nobles planning to use it to usurp a throne that they could not get by divine right. Remark that between June 17th, 1689, date when the Assembly National was proclaimed and December 9th, 1905, a number of days multiple of 13 elapsed. Moreover, between this very June 17th and the murder of Franz Ferdinand of Austria that triggered the First World War: 45666 days elapsed...

Finally note that from June 17th, 1689, the day when Christ asked Marguerite Marie Alacoque that Louis XIV consecrate France to his Sacred Heart to January 16th, 1917, date when President Poincaré reads the same request made by Claire Ferchaud, 83122 days elapsed which is still a multiple of 13...

- Yet, the facts of Loublande are unsurprisingly disavowed by the Holy See already heavily infiltrated by the Masons. It is striking to note that from September 19th, 1846, the date when Our Lady of La Salette warned the world of the corruption of the clergy to March 10th, 1920, the date when the Holy Office disapproved of the facts of Loublande and did not recognize Claire Ferchaud as an envoy of Christ, 26835 days elapsed which is a number multiple of 1789 evoking the French Revolution fomented by Freemasonry!

<sup>5</sup>This will be confirmed in our work on the Revelation according to John.

<sup>6</sup>Note that many who could not be fooled already know this from other sources...

From August 1st, 1885, date of the perpetual adoration at the Basilica of the Sacred Heart over the place of the martyrdom of St. Denis to that very March 10th... 12639 days elapsed which is a number multiple of 33, echoing like a warning of Heaven...

- Prime numbers, so important in mathematics, seem to play a major role in the arithmetic of the flow of Time. In fact, many gaps, sometimes to the nearest day, between two dates in our history, give prime numbers. Here are three examples: Between the request addressed to Louis XIV on June 17th, 1689, and the laying of the foundation stone of the Basilica of the Sacred Heart on June 16th, 1875... 67933 jours days elapsed! This number is prime and astonishingly ends by 33! From this very June 17th, 1689, (now inclusive), to August 1st, 1885, day of perpetual adoration of the Blessed Sacrament in the Basilica of the Sacred Heart 71633 days elapsed, which is again a prime number ending by 33!
From June 28th, 1914, onset of the Great War to the Armistice on November 11th, 1918... 1597 days elapsed, a prime number again, giving 4 years 4 months and 13 days! We still meet this number 13. Yet striking, 4 years and 4 months equals 52 months... and 52 is once again a multiple of... 13!

- General Foch, supreme commander of the allied forces, consecrated the French and allied armies to the Sacred Heart on July 16th, 1918 during a private ceremony. The image of the Sacred Heart was already so widespread in trenches that a Ministry of War circular dated August 6th, 1917 (countersigned by Pétain) had to prohibit its distribution and wear. Remember that the French government wanted to bury Christian youth in the trenches and erase Catholicism in order to make atheism triumph. For that purpose, they will have to wait for World War II, Vatican II and the liberation of morals in 1968. The numbers tell us this:
From January 16th, 1917 to July 16th, 1918 the date when General Foch consecrated the French and allied armies to Sacred Heart... 546 days elapsed, a number multiple of 13. And from this very July 16th to the Armistice on November 11th... 118 days elapsed, that is 3 months and  $2 \times \mathbf{13}$  days<sup>7</sup>.

- From April 25th, 1849, date of the birth of Master Philippe de Lyon to the day of the consecration of the Basilica of the Sacred Heart on October 16th, 1919...  $25740 = \mathbf{33} \times \mathbf{13} \times 5 \times 4 \times 3$  days elapsed which is a multiple of 33 and 13!
Now from the claim of Satan dated by Pope Leo XIII on October 13th, 1884 requesting a century and more power for the souls who had given themselves in service to him to the birth of Hitler on April 20th, 1889, a century after the Revolution of 1789: a number of days multiple of 13 elapsed if October 13th is included; and a multiple of 33 otherwise! Observe once more that the power of numbers 13 and 33 is used by both sides. For example, there is 33 ranks in Freemasonry; the Pope John Paul I, elected right after Paul VI and the Council Vatican II, officially died of a natural death, no doubt about it... after 33 days of pontificate... In short, the warfare is raging on and is merciless.

---

<sup>7</sup>for your information:  $117 = 3 \times 3 \times \mathbf{13}$ ...

What about you, whose side are you on?

- Between the beheading of King Louis XVI, on January 21st, 1793 and the request of July 24th, 1873 accepted by the French parliament to erect a basilica in Montmartre  $29403 = 3^3 \times 33 \times 33$  days elapsed! After two centuries of waiting, doesn't God send us a sign of encouragement through the recurrence of number 33?
- From August 1885 inclusive to November 11th, 1918 date of the Armistice 33 years 3 months and 11 days elapsed. Remark that  $33 = 3 \times 11$ . This amounts to  $12155 = 5 \times 11 \times 13 \times 17$  days, still a multiple of 13. Heaven is winking at us: pray to Christ, obey His will to get us out of the impasse into which original sin has swallowed us up...

Conclusion

Reader, realize that the preconceived idea of a remote and inaccessible god, so far away that you wonder if He really exists cannot stand when regarding the time-based arithmetical relations existing between the main dates of the History of France. Master Philippe de Lyon making it clear again:

(Life and Words Page 280): “What makes God not hear the prayer of people who are praying to Him is not the fact that He is far from them, but that these people are far from Him; because He is everywhere.”

+++

“You all belong to me and what might sound like a bold statement,
Time would also obey my will,
and I assert that anyone loving their neighbours as themselves will always be heard and answered.”

(10/06/1894)

+++

He who uttered these words was the same who secretly affirmed, “I was there at the Creation, I will be there at the End”<sup>8</sup>.

I am saying it to you, I am crying it out to you<sup>9</sup>, I am writing it down to you: there was an advent in the 19th century that defied human ken!

---

<sup>8</sup>Life and Words of Master Philippe.

<sup>9</sup>Www.jesus-christ-philippedelyon.com.